

about the artist

Acclaimed photographer, television producer, director, videographer, editor and cinematographer Stephen Woo has travelled to over 50 countries on a photo journey that spans more than 20 years.

" I have seen so many different walks of life - some rich, some poor, some developed, some under-developed. I have experienced much culture shock, conflicts, difference amongst people and discord within many situations. Yet there is one constant that I have always perceived; that is the harmonization between people. Peace endures. There exists and understanding and mutual respect within societies."
