Site Plan and Ministry Quote

"Based on the ministry's previous experience in hospital construction and operation of a similar size and scope built on a green field site, the ministry has seen a site size of approximately 50 acres as suitable to ensure there is potential for cost-effective future redevelopment."

Ministry of Health and Long Term-Care July 26, 2013

Site Plan and Ministry Quote Cont'd

"Although we can draw on other recent new hospital projects for "lessons learned", the planning context for the Vaughan new hospital project is new and unprecedented. There is a unique convergence of factors including: new hospital in a new location and municipality (i.e. not a replacement of an existing site); high growth area with significant existing population base and major infrastructure and intensification plans (e.g. subway); reconfirmation of services of a single organization to a two site model; emerging best practices on patient based design; new patient access patterns based on health system funding reform implementation during project planning and implementation. No other hospital, including the new Humber and Oakville hospitals, will experience all these factors."

Ministry of Health and Long Term Care, July 2013

New healthcare funding formula is a game changer for how resources are allocated and to whom

Health System Funding Reform (HSFR)

- Premise: "funding follows the patient"
- Operating fund allocation based on:
 - How many patients cared for (volume)
 - Type of services delivered
 - Evidence-based quality/efficiency of services
 - Needs of the population served

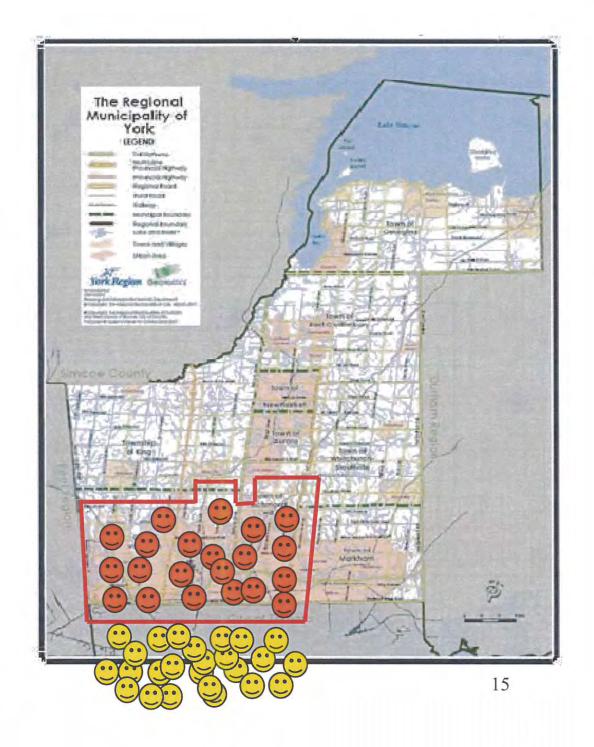

How does HSFR change the game?

Currently, funding is historically-based:

Impact:

40-50% of Southwest York Region residents use services elsewhere (mostly Toronto)

BUT.....

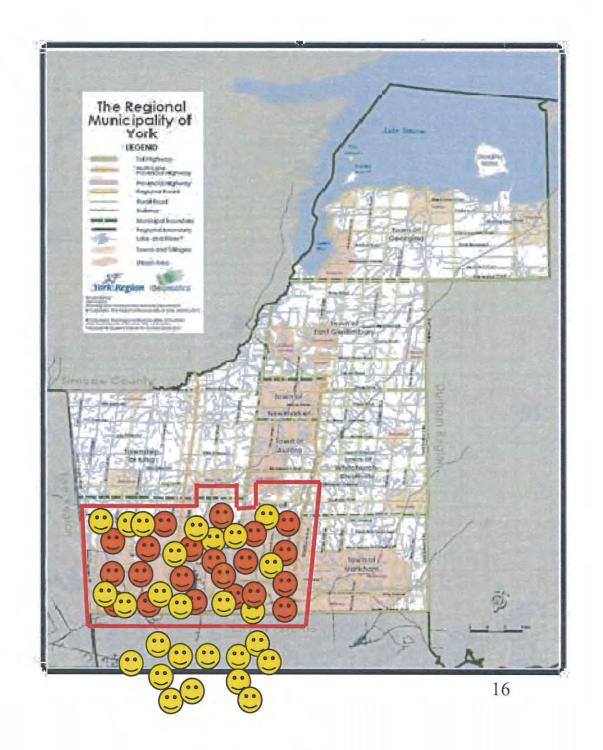

Future is brighter for with HSFR

With implementation of new HSFR funding methodology:

Impact

Funding will follow the patient. Therefore providers in high growth areas who can operate efficiently and with high quality will receive more funding.
